

Adventurers Homework

17th January 2022 – 9th February 2022

Rocky the Findosaur

Here are your homework options for this half term. Because it is a short half term, we would like you to complete just one homework project. These options are linked to our new curriculum topic, Rocky the Findosaur. This is a Science topic that includes lots of interesting learning, including rocks, fossils, solids, liquids, gases and the water cycle.

Find a rock and paint it to turn it into a beautiful piece of art.

Make your own archaeological dig with hidden fossils.

Make some salt dough and use it to make a model of a fossil. You could paint it too!

Make a 3D model of the water cycle.

Write a leaflet that helps people understand the importance of saving water.

Make a poster explaining how the particles are arranged differently in solids, liquids and gases

As always, we would also like you to continue to focus on some key areas:

- ✓ read at home to an adult at least three times a week
- ✓ learn your weekly spellings
- ✓ practise your mental maths
- ✓ practise your times tables

Don't forget you can log into Times Table Rock Stars and MyMaths to help your rapid recall of multiplication facts!

Please complete your tasks by Wednesday 9th February. We will share our homework projects with each other during the week.
